

Career coach / counselor | Interview coach | Networking facilitator | Behavioral interviewing | Blogger & Speaker

LinkedIn Profile:

As a career coach and counselor, I specialize in the interview process. I help clients with their career development by practicing mock interviewing so that they can acquire the skills needed for answering strongly all of the common, behavioral, and situational interview questions asked of job candidates today. I also guide clients in the ways of giving proper--and powerful--answers to the tough interview questions. And I develop clients' other job-interviewing skills in such areas as attire, body language, and reciting their accomplishment stories. My clients also actually learn how to convert their weaknesses into strengths.

As an experienced interviewer myself, I know what hiring managers are thinking and what they're looking for. I reveal to clients their prospective employers' thought processes, the employers' needs, and the various tricks employers use to determine who gets hired and who gets forgotten.

Even in today's tough economy, a significant percentage of my clients have landed excellent jobs. And their successes are my greatest rewards.
